

InteliBEV™ Coffee Maker

The Random Stuff CM Coffee Maker does exactly what it says on the tin - makes coffee. Using coffee beans from the finest suppliers Chengdu has to offer, and water drawn from the cool clear artesian wells below this beautiful city, the Random Stuff Coffee Maker is ideal for pepping up your staff at minimal cost. The system is ideally suited for preparations for meetings, dealing with hangovers, and it makes any office smell nicer.

Operation is simple, so that any stumbling, hangover-ridden butterfingers can produce top-quality caffeine-filled hot beverages with relative ease. Just fill the thingy with water, scoop some coffee into the other thingy, make sure the jug is under the whatsit and then, having ensured the machine is plugged in, press the on/off switch so that the reddy orange light goes on. Get some milk and sugar if you want and if you can be bothered, and have your mug ready.

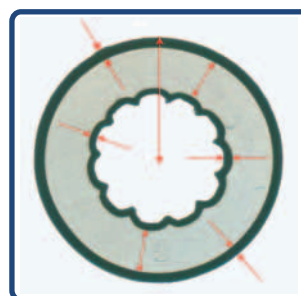

TYPICAL EFFECTS

Brain Cell Activation

Especially on Mondays the CM really helps to get things going in the cerebral department, as long as the original software is not too basic.

Hits the Spot

Sit back and enjoy a lovely cup of coffee, and treat yourself to a quiet "Hmmm" moment, and even a Snickers if you feel like pushing the boat out.

BENEFITS

- "Life saver."
- Low cost solution to waking up, and much easier than doing exercise.
- Tastes really nice with croissants.
- A good strong coffee can help to get things going when you're a bit constipated.
- Low technology - High performance.
- Pleasant aroma.
- Gets you through Monday mornings.